

Corrugated Cow Wins Award at State Fair

September 3, 2014

This past summer, team members from PCA's corrugated plant in Newark, Ohio, participated in the Technology and Engineering Showcase at the Ohio State Fair, winning the People's Choice Award for the third year in a row. For this year's fair, PCA built and exhibited a life-size corrugated cow, and participants were invited to construct smaller versions of the cow.

According to one booth volunteer, a spouse of a PCA employee: "Wow! I was so impressed with the project that PCA Newark provided for the children to participate in. It was great to see the interaction and the hands-on experience between PCA employees and children of all ages, engaging them in something so creative as a corrugated cow. Thank you to PCA for allowing me to participate in this fun event!"

For more information on the Ohio State Fair and the community events they sponsor, please visit their website at www.ohiostatefair.com.

PCA Newark's life-size corrugated cow received the People's Choice Award at the Ohio State Fair.