

PCA Newark “Vrooms” Into STEMfest! With Corrugated Truck

April 14, 2015

This past February, employees from PCA’s facility in Newark, Ohio, participated in their community’s annual STEMfest!, where representatives from PCA and other area businesses engage local children in fun, educational projects and hands-on activities. This year Newark showcased the creativity of their design team by providing corrugated trucks and then helping kids set them up.

According to the Design Manager at Newark: “Working at STEMfest! this past Saturday was a great experience! It is an honor and a privilege to represent PCA and help the kids put corrugated trucks together. In the end, this yearly event is a great experience for all the companies that participate, as well as the local children who get the opportunity to learn something new.”

A STEMfest! attendee sets up a corrugated truck provided by PCA Newark.

For more information on the 2015 STEMfest!, please visit their link at www.attheworks.org/events/community/stemfest.aspx.